

LLB (HONS) WITH ENGLISH & MAURITIAN LAW

On campus in Mauritius

Start Date: September / February

Full-time 3 Years / 2.5 Years

The LLB (Hons) with English and Mauritian Law is a Qualifying Law Degree for the purpose of practice in both England & Wales and Mauritius. It enables you to go on to the professional stages of legal training in England & Wales; either by way of the Bar Professional Course (BPC) for barristers, or the Legal Practice Course (LPC) for those wishing to become a solicitor (for practice in England & Wales only). It is also recognised by the Council for Vocational Legal Education (CVLE) in Mauritius for admission onto the vocational examination conducted under the supervision of the CVLE. This LLB will give you a detailed understanding of both English and Mauritian law and legal systems equipping you with employability skills relevant to a broad range of disciplines and countries. The programme is aimed specifically at those students who wish to work in an environment such as Mauritius where English and Mauritian law are combined.

You will be taught by professionally experienced academics and practitioners and supported by a wealth of employability-enhancing opportunities that can ready you for a successful future legal career. Teaching will take place in modern classrooms with state-of-the-art equipment. At the University of Central Lancashire, we also provide our students with extensive online resources and you will be supported on each module by a virtual learning environment.

Entry Requirements

Minimum 3 A-levels and 1 Subsidiary or 2 A-levels and 2 Subsidiaries or equivalent with 'O' level Maths, English and French grade C.

We operate a flexible admissions policy and treat everyone as an individual. This means that we will take into consideration your educational achievements and predicted grades (where applicable) together with your application as a whole, including work experience and personal statement.
